Gainesville, Ga., June 18.—(Special.)—Tired, footsore and hungry, a young man giving his name as Claude Waters, of the Southern depot at Tuley night, told himself up to Sheriff E. A. REPORT IS DELAYED ON U. S. JUDGE SPEER

Washington, June 18.—Absence from Washington of several members of the house judiciary committee today further delayed presentation of recommendations of the subcommittee which investigated charges against Emory Speer, United States judge for the southern district of Georgia. Chairman Webb is anxious that all members of the committee be present when the subcommittee's report is taken up to attend the National Photographers' convention. He expects to be able to get the full committee together within a day or two.

It is understood the subcommittee will report that the evidence does not warrant impeachment.

HE THOUGHT WOMAN WAS MORAL IMBECILE

Hartford, Conn., June 18.—The hearing of the $10,000 damage suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Curtis Holman, of Waterbury, Maine, against her former husband, Professor Cranston Brenton, was resumed today in federal court. Dr. Paul Waterman and C. C. Smith were called to the stand. Dr. Waterman testified that he was a woman who was a moral imbecile. He testified that he was a woman who was a moral imbecile. He testified that he was a woman who was a moral imbecile.

LITTLE LILLIAN BAUMRIND

Showing her mother's fall to her doggie, which, incidentally, is much more interested in the camera. In the corner is the Baumrind lavalliere.

Mrs. Max Baumrind, of 181 Rawson street, is by the absest view of fate now the owner of a lavalliere whose story is almost as weird as that of any gem that figures in Arabian Nights. Through the jewel is justly hers, until a month ago she never thought she would see it.

The lavalliere is more than 150 years old and was the property of Mrs. Ethel Rose, grandmother of Mrs. Baumrind. When Mrs. Baumrind was a small girl she used to look at the wondrous trinket and ask her grandmother to tell her stories about it. Mrs. Rose promised to give it to her little granddaughter when she should grow up, and the little lass used to stand before the mirror and imagine how she would look when she was a grown lady with the lavalliere about her neck.

But one fine day her grandmother looked for the lavalliere and it was gone!

Search was made far and wide for it, but no one ever knew what became of it.

Guilty Man Shanghaies Substitute To Serve Sentence in Penitentiary

San Francisco, June 18.—Shanghaied in Nagasaki, carried in iron across the Pacific on the United States transport Sheridan and thrust into San Quentin penitentiary to serve three years, a name he could not pronounce for a crime he never heard of, Albert Johanson, a Scandinavian sailor, was freed today by the United States district court.

On June 27 he must appear again, for the return of a writ of habeas corpus, application for which was filed today in his behalf, but in the meantime he is free without bail, and there is no doubt in the minds of the United States authorities that his imprisonment was the result of a substitution. The prisoner's story was that he was drinking one night last month in a waterfront saloon at Nagasaki. Three strangers entered to stand him treat. He accepted. The next morning he found himself at sea, a prisoner.

Nobody understood him when he tried to explain who he was and he was delivered at San Quentin as Peter A. Rogers, alias Peter Grimes, there to serve three years for a sentence imposed by the treaty court at Shanghai for forgery. His cell mate changed to be a fellow countryman and through him he got a hearing.

Today Johanson was given the album of prisoners' portraits and asked if he could find anybody in it he remembered. As soon as he came on Rogers' portrait he said: "That's one of the men I drank with in Nagasaki!"

The real Rogers served a year in San Quentin for forgery. When released he won the interest of Captain Robert Dollar, a merchant of San Francisco, who sent him to China as a clerk. Soon Rogers was posing as Captain Dollar's son. He began to pass bad checks, was caught and convicted, and sentenced to three years in San Quentin. An officer of the court was to have taken him to Nagasaki where he was to be placed on the Sheridan.

At that point the facts end, and the story begins. The belief of federal officers is that Rogers got his guardian drunk, poured a stupefying drug into Johanson's drink and personally delivered him late at night on board the Sheridan, turning over to a petty officer of the ship the papers he had stolen from the drunken deputy and receiving in person the acknowledgment for his own delivery.

Peter A. Rogers, alias Grimes, convicted forger, who is believed to have forged Albert Johanson in a Nagasaki saloon and substituted the Norwegian sailor for himself just before his transfer under guard to the transport Sheridan, has been apprehended near Nagasaki by Japanese authorities and is in custody, according to information received from Washington by United States District Attorney John W. Preston late today.

The department of state received news early today from the United States consulate at Shanghai and Nagasaki confirming the substitution story, and later news of Grimes' arrest. Preston was told that Grimes tion which has been accorded them. "We have been made to feel at home in Atlanta," said Carl E. Akerman, secretary of the organization, "and everything has been done for our comfort and convenience in many ways, and I am sure that every delegate will leave the convention with a warm spot in his heart for Atlanta."

Convention Ends Saturday

The convention will be brought to a close Saturday, after a business session in the morning. The convention in Atlanta has been a success from the standpoint of the delegates and the association as a whole, and many new members have been added to the organization by the fact that this is the first convention of the association that has ever been held south of the Mason and Dixon line.

It is a "southern" convention in spirit and in fact. The president, Manly W. Frye, of Raleigh, is the youngest man to hold that position, and is the first southern man to hold the office.

PROSPERITY LETTERS RECEIVED BY WILSON

Washington, June 18.—President Wilson told callers today that in making public letters earlier in the week to emphasize his view that a "psychological depression" was being created, he did so without thought of the effect on the legislative program, but solely to inform the public of the method being pursued by these organs of the administration's program. The president added that his message every day brought evidence of prosperity throughout the country. The president said that he had received very encouraging reports on the prospects for early passage of the trust bills through the senate and that there were indications the bills will be supported by a number of republicans.

BANKS MUST HURRY ON THE A-B DIRECTORS

Washington, June 18.—The reserve bank organization committee today notified members in the federal reserve system that nominations of Class A and Class B directors must be received not later than June 22, in order to appear on the ballots to be sent out to the district reserve electors. A second mailing was sent to banks delinquent in furnishing the names of their electors, calling attention to the fact that failure to send a certificate of election of district reserve electors will constitute a violation of the federal reserve act.

REFERENCE LIBRARY NEEDED BY THE STATE

Mrs. M. B. Cobb, State Librarian, is keenly interested in the project.

A meeting of the legislative commission, appointed by the governor to investigate the advisability of providing a legislative reference library in the state library has been called by its chairman, Representative D. B. Bullard, of Campbell county, Ga., for 11 o'clock Monday morning in the state library.

The purpose of the meeting is to formulate a report to be presented to the legislature.

Mrs. M. B. Cobb, state librarian and a member of the commission, is deeply interested in the legislative reference movement and is busy compiling data to submit to the commission Monday morning.

Mrs. Cobb says: "Legislative reference work is essentially work for the state library. It is not a newly acquired function, rather one that has been newly vitalized."

"Latest resources of the library are being brought into greater usefulness and legislators who are more and more depending on full information before they act, are enabled to obtain through the state library the information they need."

"The benefit of everything that exists in print or can be ascertained through correspondence on the subject in which they are interested."

"The men who compose our legislature are compelled to render expert judgment on a thousand bills, many of them far greater number of intricate, complex or technical subjects than the time, opportunity and facilities for studying so vast a field."

"The lack should be met by expert library service which is not only not existing laws but facts and comparative experience as well."

"Testimony as to the success of existing legislative reference work is available on every hand. Governors' messages in increasing numbers indicate and urge the creation of such agencies."

"Committees of both houses of congress have reported favorably on measures that would establish such a bureau for their use in Washington."

"Each year we do a good deal of work of this character and are greatly hampered by lack of funds. The state library will provide on a practical basis the coming session for legislative reference work in the state library of Georgia."

H. G. Lewis, representing the Buck Range company, and himself an expert cook, who knows how to prepare the most tempting of edibles, assisted by a cook of years of experience with the Pullman company, is going to show the ladies of this city just how sanitary, how scientific, how easy, and how quick meals can be prepared on a Buck Range gas range.

Every woman in Atlanta is invited to this demonstration, which begins Friday morning and continues until Saturday evening. Biscuits and rolls made from Capota flour, in which Silver Leaf lard will be the "shortening" buttered with Blue Valley butter will be prepared and baked before the eyes of Atlanta's housewives, and then daintily served to them while they are so delicious as to "almost melt in one's mouth."

Refreshing Maxwell House teas and coffees will be the offering in the little dining room.

Mrs. Lewis will deliver lectures on modern, scientific and the sanitary preparation of food, and will particularly demonstrate the many advantages of the Buck Range as it applies to all that is best in sanitary and economical cooking.

The Rhodes-Wood Furniture company is exclusive agents for the Buck Range in this city, and Walter J. Wood, general manager of the company, especially invites every lady in Atlanta to attend these cooking demonstrations, where they will not only be interested in the lessons shown them, but where they will be daintily served throughout the day, and courteously welcomed by the ladies.

Kryptok Bifocals

Why we make Kryptok Bifocals and recommend them. First of all, because of their convenience. They give Near and Far Vision in one solid glass, doing away with two pairs of glasses. They can be more perfectly ground than any other bifocal known, no ugly seams or pieces to blister or come loose. We make them in Toric or Curved form, giving a larger field both for reading and distance. Each pair is made to order, conforming to the face in every detail. Your best friend would never know you have on bifocals. They are absolutely invisible while on the face. They are a joy, not a discomfort. Ask some of our patients how they are pleased.

Chicago, June 18.—Two more com-

First and Savings bank, closed its doors today just as Patrick J. Lee, attorney general, was filing a petition in the courts here asking the appointment of a receiver for the La Street bank and charging that bank was irretrievably insolvent. The petition was taken under advisement.

The latest institutions hurt by the crash here last Friday were the Plymouth bank of East Alton and Litchfield Mill and Elevator companies. The bank was a private concern, with Munday its president. Its capital was $100,000 and it has experienced a bad all week.

J. G. Munday was president of Litchfield mill. Judge Humphries, the United States district court, appointed receivers for both properties after they had filed voluntary petitions for reorganization.

Judge O'Connor, in the supreme court, refused to consider the application for a receiver made before yesterday by Desider L. Tarjan as receiver for a syndicate with deposits in the bank while the petition filed by Lucey is pending in another court.

The petition for a receiver for La Salle Trust and Savings Bank

Of bonds listed by the bank as worth $917,660, the petition stated only $23,385 were of value, and out of $3,291,000 on loans, $1,746,684 were of no value. Cash items listed as $137,233, the petition stated were of no value.

Based on the report of D. V. Harl the bank examiner who closed the Salle Street bank last Friday, the citation recites that the institution "wholly and irretrievably insolvent and that immediate appointment of a receiver was necessary to conserve the remaining assets."

Particular attention was directed to loans made to various Lorimer-McKay enterprises which the examiner found were largely financed by La Salle Street bank and to which, according to the petition, large loans improperly secured, were made.

United States senate when he entered the banking business, and Charles Munday have been, since the foundation of the bank, respectively its president and vice president, and have exercised the active control and management. Further the bill stated that the securities set forth as of doubtful value
